Fund Manager

Investment research is a core part of our business. We believe exceptional fund managers are few and far between, but can be identified using a combination of rigorous statistical analysis and face-to-face meetings.

HOW DO WE SELECT INVESTMENTS?

Our proprietary, in-house quantitative model looks at over 2,000 funds and allows us to see more than just past performance. It enables us to drill down and decipher why a fund is at the top (or bottom) of performance tables. A key way to judge a manager is to find out if they consistently add value with their stock selection. In other words, do they do better than we would expect when considering their investment style? That is one of the key things we look for when we evaluate managers.

MORE THAN JUST NUMERICAL ANALYSIS

In addition to number crunching, we have unrivalled access to fund managers and conduct hundreds of face-to-face meetings each year. These meetings explore the manager's philosophy, process, team and incentivisation, among other things. We do all this because we want our clients to have exposure only to the limited pool of exceptional talent available. Each fund goes through a rigorous selection process. We constantly monitor funds and regularly review sectors to ensure you're invested only in what we believe are the very best funds.

Backtested, and since launch, performance

● Portfolio +46.3% ● Benchmark +53.4% ● Cash* +2.1%

* Bank of England base rate net of basic rate tax until 5th April 2016, gross thereafter.

The portfolios have been available since 03 June 2015. We have added the performance since launch as indicated by the vertical line. The Multi-Manager funds have been trading since at least 2009 and in most cases much longer, this has enabled us to backtest the performance data to give an indication of the likely performance pre-launch. We have selected a five year performance time frame which includes backtested performance up to the 03 June 2015, and actual performance since the 03 June 2015.

ABOUT THE BENCHMARK

The Investment Association (IA) is the UK fund industry's body. This portfolio uses a benchmark made up of two IA sectors to reflect the benchmark of the underlying Multi-Manager funds. The benchmark comprises 80% IA Global sector and 20% IA UK Equity Income sector.

Past performance is not a guide to future returns.

MARKET REVIEW & OUTLOOK

The three months to 31 January 2019 was a period to forget for lots of investors. UK companies of all sizes lost money as they continued to wrestle with uncertainty caused by Brexit. US, European and Japanese markets also fell. Asia and emerging markets were the only ones to make money. A weaker US dollar helped, partly because it makes any company debts denominated in US dollars easier to repay.

The portfolio fell 0.65% over the period. Its benchmark fell 1.03%.

Performance was helped by the portfolio's investments in Asia and emerging markets. Top performers include Jupiter Asian Income and Comgest Growth Emerging Markets. Findlay Park American also made money even though the broader US stock market performed poorly. We put this down to the managers' ability to invest in companies with outstanding prospects.

In line with our process, we took profits from the best performers and added to weaker ones like Barings Europe Select and FP CRUX European Special Situations. We think both funds are run by exceptional managers with the ability to deliver strong returns over the long term.

Underlying holdings in focus

JUPITER INCOME

Ben Whitmore invests in companies that have been overlooked by other investors, possibly because they've been through a tough patch. But he'll only invest if he thinks the setback is temporary. Once the company recovers, he aims to sell their shares at a higher price and move on to the next opportunity. In the meantime he collects the dividends these companies pay. We like the fact he sticks to his process through thick and thin. It's an approach that's worked well over the long run.

LF WOODFORD EQUITY INCOME

Neil Woodford is one of the UK's longest-standing fund managers and his long-term track record speaks for itself. He combines his views on individual companies with his broader economic outlook to build a portfolio able to provide income and growth over the long term. The manager often takes a different view to other investors – that means he'll invest in out-of-favour companies or sectors at what he believes to be attractive share prices, and sell them once they return to favour and the price has risen.

LINDSELL TRAIN GLOBAL EQUITY

Michael Lindsell and Nick Train invest in companies they expect to hold onto for the long term and our analysis suggests they've delivered strong returns by selecting companies with the best growth prospects. They look for companies with strong brands and a market-leading position, with the potential to generate rising earnings and dividends for decades to come. The fund largely consists of consumer-related companies, like food and drink businesses, which the managers think will benefit as the global population and consumer spending rises.

MAN GLG JAPAN COREALPHA

Stephen Harker's invested in Japanese shares for more than three decades and used the same disciplined investment approach throughout. He's a contrarian investor and looks for lowly-valued companies, overlooked by other investors, but capable of a turnaround. This approach has rewarded investors over the long term and we believe it could continue to do so in future, although there are no guarantees. We think this fund is one of the best ways to invest in the Japan.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION

Factsheet correct as at 31/01/2019. All investments and any income from them can fall and rise in value so you may get back less than you invest. Neither income nor capital are guaranteed, unlike a bank or building society account. Investing is not recommended for less than 5 years. This portfolio may invest in funds with exposure to overseas markets, including emerging markets, and smaller companies. The funds may also be able to use derivatives and invest in a concentrated number of investments. Each of these factors adds risk.
